About the Journal

Alfarqadein Journal of Communications and Computer Engineering (AJCCE) is a peer-reviewed, open-access journal published by Al-Farqadein University, Iraq. It offers researchers, faculty members, postgraduate students and specialists a platform for publishing original, high-quality research, and it is committed to rigorous peer review, research integrity and ethical publishing practice.

Scope

AJCCE welcomes manuscripts in the following fields:

- Communications engineering
- Computer engineering
- Artificial intelligence
- Computer networks
- Cybersecurity
- Embedded and intelligent systems
- Signal processing
- Internet of Things (IoT)
- Related emerging technologies

Manuscripts outside these fields may be declined at the initial editorial screening without being sent for peer review.

Article Types

Research Articles

Original and significant contributions in the journal's fields. The work must not have been published before or submitted elsewhere at the same time.

Review Articles

Comprehensive and critical analyses of recent developments, established knowledge and emerging trends. A review should synthesise and evaluate the literature, identify research gaps and open challenges, and point to directions for future research, rather than simply summarise earlier studies.

Submitting a Manuscript

Manuscripts are submitted online through the journal website. Authors need a registered account on the site to submit and to follow the progress of their submission. The submitting author is responsible for communicating with the journal throughout the editorial process.

Every submission is first assessed by an editor to check that it fits the journal's scope and meets basic quality standards. Submissions that pass this screening are sent for peer review before a decision is made to accept or reject them.

Before you submit

- Obtain permission to publish any material included with the submission, such as images, documents and datasets.
- Make sure that every person listed as an author has agreed to be named as an author.
- Where applicable, obtain approval from an appropriate ethics committee in line with the legal requirements of the country where the study was carried out.
- Check that all references are accurate and complete, and that all tables and figures are numbered and labelled.
- Complete the submission checklist on the Submissions page.

Preparing the Manuscript

Use the AJCCE Word templates for research and review articles. A research article normally includes:

- Title: concise and informative.
- Author information: names, affiliations and email addresses, which are also entered in the submission form.
- Abstract: a self-contained summary of the purpose, methods, main results and conclusions.
- Keywords: a few terms that reflect the main topics.
- Main text: Introduction, Methods, Results, Discussion and Conclusion.
- Tables, figures and equations: numbered consecutively, captioned and referred to in the text.
- Declarations: acknowledgements, funding, conflicts of interest and any use of AI tools.
- References: every source cited, one consistent referencing style, with every citation matched to the reference list.

Datasets, code or other supporting material may be uploaded with the submission as supplementary files.

Ethics

By submitting, authors agree to follow the journal's Ethics & Policies, including the Author Responsibilities, the Citation Policy and the AI Policy. AI tools cannot be listed as authors, and any use of AI tools beyond basic spelling and grammar checking must be disclosed in the manuscript.
